Cranston Wants Change in 18 Year Olds Voting Law

Senator Alan Cranston has called for a nationwide campus campaign in support of legislation he has proposed to make it easier for 18-20 year olds to register and vote in national elections.

Cranston said he is writing national officers of the Young Republicans and Young Democrats, national student organizations and other youth groups to urge Congressional support of his bill to allow campus residence voting in elections for federal offices.

Cranston noted that two million newly enfranchised young people who are living away from home at colleges or universities may find it difficult to vote because most state laws require that they register and vote in precincts where their parents live. They include an estimated 362,000 California 18-20 year olds who are going to school away from home.

He said present laws discriminate against 18-20 year olds since a 21-year-old student can register and vote anywhere he wishes, including the town in which he is going to school.

United Fund Goal Is Set

A goal for United Fund this year of $230,000 was announced recently by campaign chairman Robert L. Meester of Monterey, an account executive at Walston's.

Meester said the Fund last year raised just under $200,000 but the higher goal was set for this campaign because of the addition of two new service agencies in the group the Boys Club of the Monterey Peninsula in Seaside and Suicide Prevention Center in Carmel. These bring to 15 the number of services dependent upon United Fund for supporting funds.

"We'll have to work a lot harder at the residential level to achieve this new goal, but it's a realistic target in view of our projected programs and services," Meester said. "And each year the people of the Peninsula communities seem to support us a little better because they are more aware of the money United Fund raises here stays here. That's the important thing."

Meester said he will be aided in the drive, which will kick-off in September, by an outstanding Campaign Cabinet. The members include Judge Ralph Drummond, Pacific Telephone manager Don Boston, Dr. Donald Taucher and United Fund president James E. Henderson.

"But an 18-20 year old, because he is still considered a minor, must either go back home to register and vote, or go to the trouble of voting by absentee ballot," Cranston said, "I believe it is wise and fair that we make it easier for these young people to participate in the democratic process."

The bill, which he introduced last July would authorize campus registration and voting in elections for President, Vice President, U.S. Senator and Congressman.

Besides the national Young Republicans and Young Democrats, Cranston said he is contacting the National Students Association, National Student's Lobby, National Student Editors and major universities in various states.

Wants Support

The Harnace Free Medical located at 1186 Broadway Avenue, Seaside, is requesting all residents of the Seaside Community and other interested individuals to attend tonight's (Thursday) Seaside City Council meeting at 8 p.m., and support the Harnace Free Clinic in its request that the Council pass a resolution of moral and financial support to the Harnace Free Clinic.

Highway to Be Protected From Erosion

The funds required for a project designed to protect a state highway from erosion by ocean waters at a site in Monterey County were allocated recently by the California Highway Commission during a business meeting held in Sacramento.

A barricade made of sand bags will be installed in the surf adjacent to Route 1 and near Rocky Creek where it will trap and retain free sands brought to shore by the surf. The trapped sands will eventually build up the existing beach to such degree that the water will be blocked from a coastal bluff that supports a section of the highway.

Last year the California Division of Highways overcame part of the erosion problem by constructing a concrete wall at the base of the bluff. Although it eliminated erosion on the face of the bluff, the wall is now being undermined by the surf and the barricade is required to protect it.

The estimated cost of the project is $25,000.

Neighborhood

Youth Corps Gets Grant

The Monterey County Office of Education has been awarded $280,000 by the U. S. Department of Labor to double the Neighborhood Youth Corps program for training young people who have dropped out of school in Monterey and San Benito Counties.

This highly successful program is in its sixth year and has proved to be effective in salvaging young people who find themselves without an education or any employable skills. The program offers them an income while they learn a skill and prescribed program of further schooling, interviews, counseling and guidance as well as sympathetic employers and agencies where these young people are assigned to learn on the job.

John Peshkoff, coordinator of the local N.Y.C. program, said a large percent of the young people who enroll in the N.Y.C. out-of-school program return to school as full or part-time students with a strong desire to graduate. Peshkoff added that while the program's function is to teach young people a skill, it also tends to teach the school dropout the importance of getting an education.

New Black Studies Class Added at MPC

"Psychology of Black Americans," Black Studies 175, has been added to Monterey Peninsula College's fall curriculum. It will be offered Tuesday evenings, 7 to 10 p.m. in Room H-205.

The course, which will be instructed by Leonard C. Watkins, will provide a psychological analysis of the Black American as seen through the eyes of Black social observers.

Watkins earned his B.A. in psychology in 1964 at Central State University, Ohio; did graduate work in business administration at the University of California, Berkeley, in 1968 and received his M.S. in counseling this year at California State College, Hayward.

An associate project director for CTB/McGraw-Hill Monterey, he was a consultant and for the Oakland Public Schools before coming to the Peninsula in July.

Registration for this and other evening classes will be held September 1 or 2, 6:30 to 9 p.m. in the MPC gymnasium.

Price Freeze Has No Effect On MPC Fees

Dr. Jack D. Bessire, Monterey Peninsula College dean of student personnel, said recently that President Nixon's price freeze will not affect a recently announced rise in MPC's college center use fee or an increase in its out-of-state tuition fee.

Bessire's statement followed a national ruling released by Secretary of Treasury John B. Connally to the effect that "previously announced" tuition and fee increases at colleges would remain in effect despite the freeze.

The rise in MPC's college center use fee from $2 to $5 was approved by the board of trustees at its August 4 meeting.

The change in the out-of-state tuition fee from $14 to $30 per semester unit, resulting from a directive from the office of the state chancellor of community colleges, was announced by MPC in its 1971-72 admissions bulletin and catalog, both published several months ago.

Bessire explained that the former college center use fee, which had been levied to help the Associated Students "pay off the mortgage" and defray maintenance costs for the college center building, has proved insufficient. He said that revenues from the bookstore and cafeteria and such fundraising events as rock concerts "haven't been enough to make up the difference." The request for the raised fee came from the students themselves.

The new fee, Bessire said, will apply to all students—full time and part-time. "In a discussion as to whether it was fair to charge part-time students the same as full-time students, it was decided that it would be impossible to discriminate between the amount of use of the center actually made by the two groups. The evening students are heavy users, too," he said.

Other fee changes include the cancellation of a $6 "associate" student body card and the retention of the "full" student body fee of $15 only which all students are expected to pay.

The registration fee for students over 21 carrying fewer than 10 class hours per week remains at $13.

One fee is down. The health fee required of all day students. This fee, which covers injuries on campus or during supervised activities off campus, as well as the services of the college health office, has been lowered from $5 to $3.75.

Publisher's Report

Seaside Ripples

A. E. Andy Barragan, Publisher

A few of our readers might have noticed that my "Ripples" column in the last issue was written by my staff assistant, Art Tagle. I missed writing my column because I was taken to the hospital August 10 with a heart attack. I had had a very serious heart attack December, 1969, just over 20 months ago, so naturally we were a little concerned. Fortunately, after a couple of days in the hospital and after a series of x-rays and blood tests, the doctor concluded that I had a bad gall bladder attack. This brought on the heart attack because the heart and bladder are connected to the same nerves. He immediately told me that I would have to have an operation to correct gall bladder problem. Ordinarily, the prospect of a major operation would be enough to scare any one, but in my case, I was more than happy to have him operate that very day. I was that happy that my heart had not been damaged. The wind-up of the whole affair is that I will be recuperating for the next few weeks and they will operate and remove my gall-bladder next month. In the meantime, I have to take it easy, but I think that I will be able to write my column every week.

A.E. Barragan

While in the hospital, I had many hours to reflect without the distractions of daily problems. I got the feeling that in the very last few weeks there has been a gradual increase of harmony and peace descending on the world. I could feel it strongly and feel it even more now that I am out of the hospital and able to talk with people. There is still disappointment with

County Ratio Is Announced

Final county ratios of assessed to full cash value of locally assessable property have been announced by the State Board of Equalization.

The ratios, as of March 1, 1971, show Monterey County at 22.6 percent of market value compared to the statewide average of 24.2 percent.

A county's assessment ratio is the key to a number of programs involving more than $739 million in state school equalization aid and other educational financing. State aid is distributed to school districts with relatively low taxable wealth per child.

Fishing News

The albacore are hitting big now, according to fishing reporter, Bill, who is skipper of the "Miss Monterey" from Sam's Boat Landing at Fisherman's Wharf.

Last week, in just two hours, says Bill, 11 fishermen bagged 46 of the tasty white-meat tuna. The next day a group caught 39 of the albacore.

Bill tells us that the albacore will be running now and then, but anyone wishing to go out will have to call in advance because the boats go out at 4:30 a.m. instead of the usual 7 a.m. The number to call is 372-0577.

Bill also tells us that the has been talking to his friend Jack Ellis in Sausalito. The skipper of the "Blue Horizon" reports that they are tying into big bags of salmon. Anyone in search of salmon should contact Jack at the Sausalito Boat Landing.

Good luck, fellows.

MPC Staffers Earn National Recognition

Two staff member at Monterey Peninsula College have recently received national recognition.

John Rivers of Carmel Valley, will be listed in the 1971 edition of "Outstanding Educators of America". Rivers, who joined the MPC faculty in 1970 as director of special services, was recently appointed associate dean of student personnel.

Prior to moving to the Peninsula, he was director of Chico State College's educational opportunity program and chairman of the Coalition of EOP Directors of Northern California. He earned his B.A. degree in sociology at Chico State and an M.A. in psychology at Sonoma State College. Shirlie Stoddard, MPC public information officer, is listed in the 1971-72 edition of "Who's Who of American Women."

Before joining the college staff in 1960, the Del Monte Park resident had been a writer, columnist, editor and photographer for such publications as the Monterey Peninsula Herald, Carmel Valley News, Mademoiselle Magazine and San Francisco and Oakland Shopping News. She was also copy director for an Alaskan television station and co-author, with her brother Gordon, of the book "Go North, Young Man."

At MPC, she instructed an evening class in public relations for four years.

Girl Scouts In Mexico

Fifteen very happy Senior Girl Scouts and Mr. and Mrs. J. Ludd Shea, adult advisors, recently boarded a plane which was the first step of their trip to Mexico.

The scouts were selected last fall by the Monterey Bay Girl Scout Council to attend an international event in Cuernavaca, Mexico.

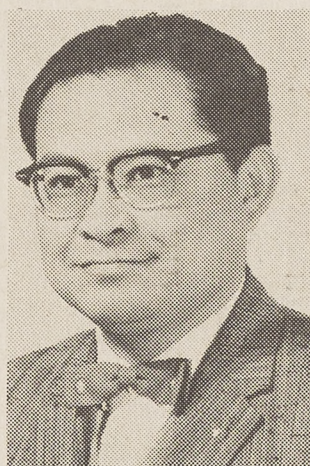

They will stay at the "Cabanana" which is one of the four Girl Scout centers in the world and will work with scouts from all over the world. While at the Cabana, the scouts will give service to a house for homeless girls and also help in a low income area by providing recreational activities such as games, dances and simple crafts.

Each girl also took toys to be given to an orphanage. On the scouts' itinerary are visits to Taxco, Mexico City, Mazatlan, Guadalajara, and Acapulco before returning home.

Six girls selected from the Monterey Peninsula are Kathleen Owens, Giolama Davi and Sheri Glazebrook, all of Seaside; Susan Engholm of Monterey, Dawn Still of Pacific Grove and Connie O'Hara of Del Rey Oaks.

C.Y. Lee Wins Fellowships

Charles Y. Lee, chairman of the Seaside Art Commission, adult educator and art teacher of Alisal High School has been awarded two fellowships recently. One is to study ABE/ESL--Institute for training adult basic education teachers of English as a second language-- at San Francisco State College, under a grant from the United States Office of Education. The others is a TTT Project for experienced teachers. It is a EPDA fellowship for a year's study at San Jose State College in the School of Education.

Lee is one of the four minority teachers selected for the San Jose Program to work with youth from low-income and ethnic backgrounds in the areas of cultural studies, community relations, self-awareness and self-evaluation and school administration. He will be commuting during the weekends between Seaside and San Jose in 1971-72, now that he is on leave of absence from his Salinas school district. He will receive a standard supervision credential and another M.A. degree in education administration after completion of fellowship studies next year.

Local 'Stars' Can Appear On Telethon

Any local organization's leaders can become TV stars, albeit briefly, on the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to benefit Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America. For, in addition to the many internationally famous stars who will be presented by the comedian, the nationally-viewed entertainment and fund-raising blockbuster will put before local cameras many representatives of contributing groups.

This 20-hour holiday weekend show will be seen "live" and in color on station KBHK, ch44, San Francisco and KNTV, Ch11 San Jose, among the 115 stations nationwide. The telethon begins 7:30 p.m. Sunday, September 5 and runs to 3:30 p.m. Monday, September 6.

Groups wishing to participate may call (415) 776-0922 or write to MDAA at 25 Taylor Street, Suite 712, San Francisco, CA. 94102, for a descriptive pamphlet "Put Yourself In The Picture".

Telethon officials report that all stations plan cut away periodically from the big show to enable local organizations spokesmen to bestow their gifts to MDDA "on camera".

These presentations will give well-deserved recognition to clubs, fraternal societies, labor unions and many other participating groups. Lewis feels it is a good way to inform people that these organizations not only exist, but are doing something wonderful for the welfare of our entire community.

the way many things are being handled, but much of the bitterness and rancor has subsided. This may be because people are resigned to the fact that there is nothing they can do about the situation and that the idea of peace and harmony has won out.

Let's look at some of the mayor problems that existed just a few days ago. The Legislature and Governor Reagan were at loggerheads. Neither side was willing to budge on the question of welfare and the state budget. In just a few days of meetings with compromises by both sides, the budget and the welfare problem was solved. Again, I repeat, not everybody was completely satisfied, but the issue was resolved so that we could move on to better things.

President Nixon with two successive bombshells may have solved two of the thorniest issues to face the world in decades—the recognition of China and Wage Price controls. Again, there is dissatisfaction from certain segments of society on the manner and way in which these two great issues were handled or that they were solved at all. Let those who would not have moved on these two issues give us an alternative that will help end both the Vietnam war and the wage-price hike war. The issues were met. We may not all agree exactly with the methods or reasons, but they have been put on the way to resolution. The compromises that will come out of the negotiations from all concerned parties should bring about as equitable a solution as is possible from such widely divergent viewpoints.

I wanted to comment on the "why" of the Nixon moves and was tempted to chide the President for his political motives, but I was restrained from doing so by the very peace and harmony that I spoke of earlier. So, I ran across this editorial in August 19, 1971 edition of Christian Science Monitor, which I think is fair and objective.

THE POLITICS OF IT ALL

From the point of view of the professional politician President Nixon has done a remarkable job of getting ready for the 1972 political campaign. Seldom, if ever before in American political history, has any president got his political stage so completely and effectively dressed so long before the official opening day.

Once there were three powerful issues waiting for the Democrats to exploit—war, the economy and treatment of Negroes. With the launching of the new "prosperity" package, there is little left of any one of them. The important point to notice is that in preparing his position on the three Mr. Nixon has given first thought to the swing voters in the middle who decide to outcome of the elections. He has given minimum concern to his own right wing, which is unlikely to bolt the party on election day, anyway, or to those who are going to vote Democratic come what may.

He has defused the war issue almost completely by winding down the war itself and announcing a trip to Peking. He has shaken the Republican right, and some old friends overseas. But the Peking trip makes credible the policy of winding down the war. The Democrats may try to claim that it is all stage dressing, but they weren't going to vote for Mr. Nixon anyway.

"Middle America," "hard hats," and southern whites were disgruntled over Mr. Nixon's failure to slow or halt the march of Negroes toward political and economic equality. Mr. Nixon can't stop that, but he can take up a "minimum bussing" posture, as he has; and bussing is where the civil rights issue bites deep into the life of the American family -- black and white both. By favoring an absolute minimum of bussing Mr. Nixon pleases a lot of middle-class whites without greatly outraging Negroes. To them the quality of education has become more important than mixing color in classrooms.

Now this is all rounded out with the new "prosperity" package which gives everyone some hope of a check to the inflation; has obviously delighted Mr. Nixon's one basic community of business and industry; and has displeased mostly only those segments dwellers who never vote Republican anyway.

Whether it will work is another matter. It's one thing to tailor a winning political strategy. It's another thing to make it work. But as of end of summer 1971, Mr. Nixon has tailored a strategy which gives Democrats as little room for maneuver as a master politician can manage.

The real weakness, if there is one, lies in the personal relationship between Richard Nixon and the American people. Not until the votes are counted next year will we find out whether the slowness in evolving these new policies has seriously cut into that relationship.

If Mr. Nixon had started out earlier on winding down the war instead of invading Cambodia and Laos, would "middle America" have more confidence in his "peace" posture now? If he had laid on price and wage controls a year ago, would more housewives be sympathetic than are now?

Mr. Nixon's real election problem, after all, is one of personality, not strategy. He has a super strategy. Not even a Teddy or Franklin Roosevelt could have put together a more skillfully "tailored" package than this triangle of peace, prosperity, and minimum bussing. But do those voters at whom it is aimed have confidence in the man?

Democrats are going to have a hard time finding substitutes for the three strategies. The prospect therefore is that we will, sadly, be getting a lot of personality mixed into politics next year.

As I See It

By Mel Vercoe

The world's greatest comic doesn't get to play a part in the best comedy we've seen in years. Poor Spiro was sent on a trip to get him out of the way during the first act (The Overture to Red China) and evidence he is under strict orders to keep his thoughts to himself during the second act. The Wage-Price Reelection Overture.

England's decline from greatness must have been unpleasant for the Empire on which the sun never set, but as their colonial control declined and other nations provided more and more competition with industrial products, England was forced to withdraw ignominiously to the confines of its own boundaries and to a few years ago to adopt an "austerity program" to try to save it from complete economic collapse.

One of America's best kept secrets from itself is that we are now going the same route. We can't compete in an open market with manufacturers in Japan, Korea, Germany, Hong Kong, etcetera and the 10 percent import tax recently applied by Mr. Nixon, along with a desperate attempt to control wages and prices, was in effect an admission to the world that we have finally recognized our plight.

Mr. Nixon's attempt to create Chinese markets for our industries was "too little and too late." The 10 percent import tax will help for about 60 days, but not long enough to assure Mr. Nixon's reelection by happy voters 15 months from now. Although we kept the truth from ourselves for a long time, it is doubtful that foreign banking interests will further postpone the ultimatum they gave us a few years ago when our gold was in trouble.

Our childish pursuit of utopia as we reaped the short-term benefits of a false front economy based on a senseless war and a useless ABM and a ridiculous space program—this pursuit is coming to a screeching halt with the realization that over $200 billion in public funds were very foolishly spent.

That much money on social reform programs here in America instead of on a war and expensive research projects would have made America strong today and without our present problems of inflation, recession and loss of world position. For this disastrous misplacement of priorities we can blame our leadership, including our representatives and senators who supported these policies and at this time it is almost comical to watch the antics of these near-idiot as they display great concern about the U.S. economy, not because of what it means to America's future, but because of its effect on next year's election results.

The Wage-Price Reelection Overture is not only a poorly written piece of music, it started several years too late and nobody wants to listen to it. The administration explanation of why banking policies were not included in the freeze was part of the key, (there was no need to include banking institutions because they are, of course, morally above taking advantage of the situation.) Humorous, yes, but how did they think organized labor, would take the freeze when the biggest single factor in our lost inflation battle was not included in the freeze, probably mainly because it was too big to buck and if our steel industry had not already been in trouble it, too, would have been too big to buck.

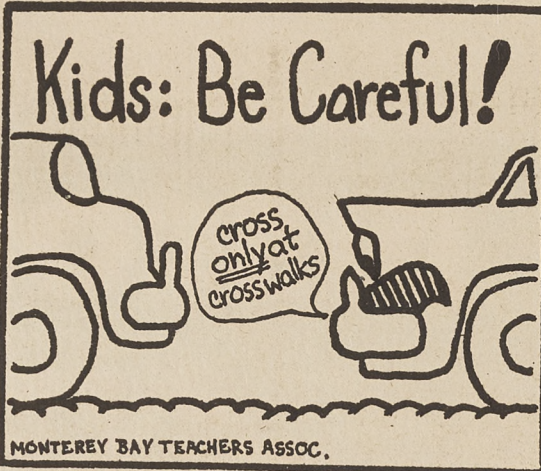

Anyway, don't blame the communists for this fiasco. They don't have to bury us. We are going to do it all by ourselves, including the digging of the hole.

Bob Wood Reports

The Legislature recently voted for a three week recess. Some of us voted for a two week recess instead of three, but we were out voted. I voted for a two week recess because there are so many major problems still unsolved. There is going to have to be some new money for education and we still have to determine the amount. Property tax reform, an issue that last year lost out by one vote, still hasn't been resolved and this is a big one, which will take time. Another problem is what affect President Nixon's decree on wage freeze is going to have on State employees. We were getting mighty close to a compromise increase these last few weeks. Reapportionment of Assembly and Senate districts is another big one that will take many days to thrash out.

When you combine these major problems with the fact that the minor ones still aren't completed, you can see we face a long session. I think the sooner we tackle them the better. I wouldn't be a bit surprised to see us still here in October. California's budget is the sixth largest in the world. I feel we had better not be too hasty in determining how it should be spent. I think we should go slow and try to make each decision in the interests of better government.

You are going to hear a lot about no-fault auto insurance in the weeks ahead. Under the bill recently passed by the Assembly, claims by driver and the passengers in his car would be paid by his insurance company regardless of whose at fault if there's an accident. Primary opposition to the bill comes from California Trial Lawyers' Association.

Arguments have been advanced that many car owners would end paying more for their insurance than they pay now if they want protection against losses above the arbitrary limit set in the various no-fault plans. Those pushing for the passage of a No-Fault insurance package claim the present system is inadequate and slow. They point out the thousands who are paid too little and some paid too much fail to recover anything, because so many times the guilty party has no insurance. Most insurance companies are divided on the concept.

Night Classes Are Offered

Several courses of "more than unusual interest" will be offered evenings during Monterey Peninsula College's fall semester, Dr. Keith Merrill, MPC dean of community education, has announced.

Business 994, a non-credit skills class for persons who wish to brush up on shorthand and/or typing as well as practice or receive instruction in calculating, transcribing and duplication machines - all with an eye to regaining employable efficiency - will meet Thursday evenings.

An institute in the fundamentals of technical illustration, Drafting 675, will also offer students an opportunity for employment upgrading, as will Engineering 251, Manufacturing Processes. The latter will provide instruction in the use of basic machine tools; the use of jigs, fixtures and layout; measurement and gauging instrumentation; the fabrication and joining of metals and alloys and casting, forging and metallurgy.

Two courses initiated last year, Ethnic Studies 155, The American Indian Experience and Spanish 160, Chicano Studies in Spanish, will again be offered.

A home economics course not previously included in the evening schedule, Household Arts, is aimed at "helping the students to gain skills in beautifying the home." The class will meet Mondays and Wednesdays rather than Tuesdays and Thursdays, as previously announced.

Persons interested in exploring recreation as an occupation may take Recreation 100, an introductory course which provides a general orientation to the field, including a history of its development and survey of recreation and leisure service. Brochures listing over 164 classes in MPC's fall evening curriculum are available on request at the administration building, where registration will be conducted September 1 and 2.

St. Matthias Joins With Carmel Parish

The Episcopal congregation of St. Matthias Church at Kimbal and Noche Buena Streets in Seaside formally merged with the congregation of All Saints Parish in Carmel this week.

Initiated by the Carmel parish in 1953-4 under the supervision of the then assistant priest, Rev. David Hill, the local congregation now holds title to three acres at the corner of Kimbal and Noche Buena and a rectory on Shaffer Street. Because of declining finances the Episcopal Diocese of California withdrew financial support for a full-time priest last year and once again named Rev. David Hill, now rector of the Carmel parish, as priest-in-charge.

Last winter a new Roman Catholic congregation was formed in the south Seaside area, including Del Rey Oaks, and launched with the Episcopal congregation an ecumenical venture, sharing building and facilities and coordinate activities under the direction of the Rev. Fathers Tod Brown and Victor Farrell.

Program Aids Students

The Human and Educational Development Program is an organization composed of students, whose function is to provide various types of services for students attending Monterey Peninsula College. John Rivers, Associate Dean of Student Personnel is the administrator and Otis Stevenson is the student director.

Among those services being offered are tutoring, academic and career counseling and advance commitment program.

Today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. there will be an orientation in LF-103 for all students that are interested in attending MPC through HEDP. Adults are encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity.

The Tutorial Center is located in B-8. Upon completion of registration, the next step should be to come to the Tutorial Center and sign up for a tutor. It's better to say after a couple of weeks of tutoring that you don't need it than to wait until you get lost in the class and spend the rest of the semester trying to catch up. All tutors hired have taken the course which they are tutoring, received an A or B in the course, and have demonstrated ability to tutor to his instructor.

Academic and career counseling, the physically or socially handicapped, low income and other categories of disadvantaged students will find HEDP committed to helping them succeed in their individually chosen educational program. Information is available for other state colleges and universities.

The Advance Commitment Program is for low income students. As a concept, advanced commitment would systematically set aside funds which would be used to further their education. The idea is to implant incentive in the student as early as the ninth grade.

Each student selected by the Advance Commitment Program will have $50 set aside every semester. This procedure will continue throughout the student's high school education, providing he remains in high school and continues to progress towards successful completion.

After graduation, the student must enroll in a post-educational training program or a college of his choice before receiving the full amount of his advance commitment trust fund. The student will not receive any funds, however, until verification of registration.

HONORED - Elizabeth Shanklin of Seaside received Department of Army commendation recently for her superior performance as clerk of Army Combat Developments Command Experimentation Command at Fort Ord. Presenting award is commanding general of CDCEC, Brigadier General Ray Ochs. Her husband Fred is also civil service employee at Fort Ord.

Kesey Play Continues

"One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," Dale Wasserman's play based on the Ken Kesey novel, is now in its 16th month at the Little Fox Theatre, 533 Pacific Street--the longest playing serious show ever to play in San Francisco. The Rudi Gyn production, directed by Lee Sankowich, is still attracting capacity audiences and will continue at least through September.

Performances are Tuesdays through Fridays at 8:30 p.m., Saturdays at 7 and 10:30 p.m. and Sundays at 7:30 p.m. For ticket reservations call 434-4738. Tickets are also available at Macy's, Ticketron, Sherman Clay in Oakland and other leading agencies.

Pantera Is Newest Luxury Sports Car, Costs $9,000

The deTomaso Pantera luxury sports car from Italy was recently introduced at selected Lincoln-Mercury dealerships in the bay area.

Ray A. Geddes, executive vice president of deTomaso, Inc., said that the suggested retail price of the Pantera will be $9,000. Its availability will be limited initially to the bay area, New York and Southern California.

"We expect the supply of Panteras to improve a few months and then we will begin franchising dealers in other areas," Geddes said. "Within a year we plan to sell the Pantera in 60 major markets across the country."

The Pantera (Italian for Panther) was conceived and engineered by Alejandro deTomaso, Argentine-born former race driver who heads deTomaso Automobili di Modena, Italy.

It is the first mid-ship engine sports car ever built in volume using a large American V-8 engine. The power plant is Ford Motor Company's 351-4V Cleveland engine.

The body was designed by Ghia, a firm whose name has been associated with some of the world's most beautiful automobiles since 1915. The coachwork is crafted by Vignale of Turin. A majority interest in the three Italian companies is held by Ford Motor Company.

"This is the first time a vehicle incorporating the advanced engineering and fine coachwork of the Pantera has been offered for sale in the United States at such an attractive price," Geddes said. Designed to appeal to the enthusiast who wants sleek styling with superior performance and workmanship, the Pantera is a two-passenger coupe with a 98-inch wheelbase and curb weight of 2,860 pounds. It stands only 43 inches high.

The mid-ship engine design is important because it permits optimum weight distribution--42 percent up front and 58 percent in rear. This, plus rack and pinion steering, fully independent suspension and steel-belted radical ply tires, combine to give the Pantera outstanding handling and maneuverability.

Standard four wheel power disc brakes deliver the best braking in the United States. The car will come to rest from 60 mph in only 134 feet.

Also standard are power windows and tinted glass, which are either optional or not available on most other sports cars.

The Pantera is exceptionally quick, accelerating from 0 to 60 mph in 5.5 seconds. With deTomaso designed exhaust manifolds, the Ford 351-4V engine produces 310 horsepower at 5400 rpm.

The engine is coupled to a five-speed transaxle. A gate-type gear shift lever prevents mis-shifts. The rear axle has a ratio of 4.22:1.

The Pantera's interior is in the tradition of fine Italian coachwork. Seats are contoured and hand sewn by master craftsmen. The racing-type steering wheel in padded, as are the instrument panel and console. A large tachometer and speedometer are positioned in front of the driver. A complete set of additional instruments is placed vertically on a panel above the center console.

The Pantera is available in eight exterior colors -- white, yellow, red, lime, blue, green, silver and bronze.

Air conditioning ($500) and cast magnesium wheels ($300) are factory installed options.

A subsidiary of Ford Motor Company, deTomaso of America, Inc., has been specially established to insure that Pantera service matters receive priority attention. The warranty is for 12 months or 12,000 miles and there is a 90-day free break-in period.

Geddes expressed great optimism about the acceptance of the Pantera.

"Announcement last year of Mr. deTomaso's development plans for the Pantera stirred tremendous interest and displays of prototype models at auto shows in New York and Los Angeles attracted very large crowds," he said. "Lincoln-Mercury and its dealers have received thousands of requests for information. Many people, without ever seeing the car, placed firm orders secured by cash deposits."

"Knowledgeable sports car people recognize the Pantera as a very special car. It combines the best of Italy and the finest from America. The Italians have a unique flair for styling, coachwork and sports car design."

"On the other hand, the Ford 351-4V is a prime example of American know-how with powerful, reliable and easily serviced V-8 engines. This marriage of Italy and America has enabled us to produce a superb sports car that really has no competitor because it offers so much for the price."

The past sales performance of luxury sports cars isn't an accurate indication of the potential for the Pantera, according to Geddes.

"Foreign sports cars in the $5,000 and over price range reached sales of about 15,000 last year," he said. "The true potential is much greater than that. The Pantera will attract many new buyers to the sports car field as well as upgrade present owners of lower-priced sports cars."

"Our goal for 1971 is about 1,000 sales and we expect to increase that to 2,500 in 1972."

Will Show Autos And Aircraft

A record number of antique and classic automobiles and aircraft, both personal and military, will be on display at the Presidio of San Francisco during the fifth annual Golden Gate Concours d'Elegance on Sunday, August 29.

More than 130 cars are to be shown on the athletic field adjacent to the post exchange and library, with 60 airplanes on show nearby at Crissy Field.

The annual event is under official sanction of the Sports Car Club of America.

It is intended to raise funds for ree charities--the Marin Aid to Retarded Children, the City of Hope, and the Presidio Women's Club Welfare Fund, according to Leonard Goldberg, general chairman.

The concours will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission will be $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children, with transportation provided free between the automobile and aircraft exhibit sites.

Peter Hoyt Berg, San Francisco architect and chairman of the Auto Division, says early entries indicate that the number of antique, classic, vintage, competition and sports cars "will exceed all previous marks."

Don Ryder, chairman of the Aircraft Division, says applications indicate that a record total of planes will be displayed. Crissy Field will be closed to regular aerial traffic for the day.

Goldberg announced that a special Morris Harris Memorial Trophy will be awarded honoring the founder of the San Francisco Guardian Chapter of the City of Hope. Harris, who died recently at the age of 56 in San Francisco, was a pioneer member of the group that originated the Golden Gate Concours.

Practises What He Preaches

The former chancellor of Fordham University is now director of freshman studies at Johnson C. Smith University, a predominantly black school in Charlotte, North Carolina, which was organized in 1867.

When the white Jesuit educator, the Reverend Leo McLaughlin, resigned his Fordham post at the age of 57, he said:

"I've been talking about race relations for years, and I've decided to put my life where my mouth is."

After a year at Johnson C. Smith, he has expressed the hope that small, mostly Negro institutions can make major contributions to American education and race relations.

He pointed out that while many Negroes are psychologically prepared to thrive in the white-dominated world of the average college campus, others need the more sheltered haven provided by smaller Negro colleges.

How Not To Pollute

Four engineers in Perris, a town in Southern California, say they have adapted a 1960 pickup truck to run on a mixture of hydrogen and oxygen that does not emit pollutants.

They plan to present their findings to an August meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers in Boston.

One of the four, Dwight Minnich, a former aerospace engineer and now publisher of a weekly newspaper, said they chose the hydrogen-oxygen combination because it would burn without harmful leftovers.

Long-Trip Driving Studied

The over-extended driver, or O-E, is one species of motorist analyzed in a lengthy study on "Long Trip Driving Habits of California Drivers" by the UCLA Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering.

A UCLA team headed by Harry W. Case and Robert L. Mellinger interviewed 4,007 California drivers who had taken long motor trips, at 24 different offices of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

A "long trip" was defined as one of more than 300 miles (either roundtrip or one way).

Mellinger divided his subject between "regular drivers" and "over-extended drivers," defining the latter as single drivers who had been awake 18 hours or more and at the wheel at least six hours.

With two or more drivers in the same car, the baselines were 24 hours or more awake and at least 12 hours at the wheel.

The over-extended driver, about one out of every ten motorists, tended to be younger and less experienced than regular drivers, drove more consecutive days and more miles each day (and night), and often seemed to push himself to his physiological limits on long trips.

More significantly, over a two-year period, the O-E averaged almost twice as many accidents and convictions for traffic violations as regular drivers.

Exhibit A: Supplement To And Clarification Of DEL MONTE HEIGHTS REDEVELOPMENT PLAN

PARAGRAPH C-2 IS HEREBY AMENDED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) Type "A" residential areas are designated for single family detached residences and/or cluster developments. The latter use requires a Use Permit from the Agency.

(2) All buildings are subject to the Agency's approval. The first, related to plan approval, must be obtained before commencement of construction, the second, related to plan compliance, prior to occupancy.

(3) (c) Rear yard or lot line is the line on the side opposite the street line.

(4) Minimum lot size shall be 6,000 sq. ft. Minimum set backs are as follows:

House to any adjoining street (including corner lots)15 ft.

House to side line15 ft.

House to rear property line15 ft.

Minimum driveway length22 ft.

The narrowest part of a parcel bordering on two streets is considered the legal front.

(5) Each parcel shall have automobile access along the designated street only. Each house with two or more bedrooms requires a two-car garage or carport. In cluster developments, all carports or garages or carports, Carports are permissible subject to the following requirements:

(a) There shall be no exposed laundry facilities.

(b) There shall be no exposed water heaters.

(c) There shall be no exposed storage.

(d) Enclosed storage must be provided.

(e) Carports shall be subject to strict design approval.

(6) Generally, only one-story houses are allowed in the area, although to provide design flexibility and to take advantage of the topography, actual overall heights equivalent to a 1-1/2 story dwelling (approximately 17 feet) will be permitted. Ground coverage, and consequently, total enclosed floor area shall be limited to 40% of the total lot area. The total lot area shall be the area shown on the map of the land rendered this requirement impractical, the Agency may grant a Use Permit to arrange for a larger lot area. In no case, however, shall the height of the buildings exceed the equivalent of a typical two-story house. When considering requests for a Use Permit, the Agency shall require evidence that the granting of said Use Permit will not cause major obstruction of the views enjoyed by existing adjacent dwellings.

(7) To encourage imaginative site planning which would yield advantage both to the occupants and to the community, the Agency may allow Cluster developments. A special Use Permit by the Agency is required. Listed below are conditions under which such permits would be issued and general guidelines for the planning of clusters.

(a) The major objective of cluster developments shall be the creation of larger usable exterior space without compromising individual privacy and improved relationship between buildings and open spaces when compared with the development of individual lots.

(b) A minimum of four contiguous lots are required for a cluster.

(c) The maximum number of dwelling units allowed in the cluster shall not exceed the number of lots contained in the cluster.

(d) Two types of clusters are allowed under present regulations: A conventional development retaining the original property subdivisions, and a condominium development.

(e) In a conventional cluster development, all property lines within a cluster site must be maintained and duly recorded in individual deeds for the purpose of identification of land ownership. However, the total combined site must be developed as one unit. For this purpose, only perimeter setback lines at the combined site are to be maintained. All other setback lines may be modified or eliminated.

(f) In condominium clusters, all property lines within the combined site will be eliminated and disposition of property and space rights is to be accomplished according to State of California regulations governing condominium developments.

(g) In condominium clusters, the buildings may be placed anywhere on the combined site as long as perimeter setback lines are maintained as required above.

(h) Artificial screening or fencing shall be discouraged. Privacy can best be achieved through the placement of buildings in relation to each other. Next in line of preference is screening through appropriate landscaping. Only wire mesh or chain-link fencing is placed within landscaped areas and in accordance with Agency's provisions for fencing is allowed. Such fencing shall be restricted to the purpose of containing children and pets and shall enclose a maximum area equal to 25% of the livable house area. No fence shall be built closer to a street than the closest rear corner of the respective unit.

(i) Open trellises and pergolas will be allowed within each part of a building and shall be subject to all limitations stipulated for individual buildings in the text above.

(j) Combined enclosed area of all dwellings and garages in one cluster shall not exceed 40% of the combined lot area. The allowable area can be distributed over one or two stories and any level in between.

(k) The total height of any structure within a cluster shall not exceed 24 feet measured from adjoining ground at the lowest point.

(l) Provided the objectives as stated in paragraph (a) above are further enhanced, the Agency may allow duplexes. Each duplex shall be counted as two of the allowed dwelling units.

(m) The total combined covered parking shall be equal to twice the number of dwelling units in the cluster. All required parking shall be in covered, enclosed garages or carports. Carports are subject to the following requirements:

1. There shall be no exposed water facilities.

2. There shall be no exposed water heaters.

3. There shall be no exposed storage.

4. Enclosed storage must be provided.

5. Carports shall be subject to strict design approval.

(n) In a conventional cluster, each original lot, as described in the individual homeowner, shall contain one dwelling unit and one two-car garage or carport. In condominium developments, all required garages may be combined into garage compounds appropriately related to use.

(o) Utility mains in condominiums may be combined for several units when approved by the utility company and the City Building Inspector.

(p) Landscaping is of major importance in a cluster development as it establishes the character of open spaces, creates privacy and generally acts, as no other single feature, the tone of the cluster living. Therefore, comprehensive landscaping must be provided by the developer as part of the total development plan.

(q) In a conventional cluster, three types of landscaping are required:

1. Greenbelt landscaping.

2. Screening for privacy.

3. Front area landscaping between the house and the surrounding streets.

(r) In conventional clusters, the landscape maintenance shall be provided by the developer until it is transferred to a dwelling occupant, except that greenbelt plantings will be maintained by the developer until all units within a cluster are occupied. In condominium clusters, the developer shall cause all landscaping to be maintained as required above.

(s) To maintain in perpetuity that which has been initially provided in a cluster development, the developer must cause the original land deed to be altered in such a way as to guide the use of land and improvements in accordance with the spirit of above provisions and to insure the maintenance of the cluster against future alterations which may drastically change the character of the development. Specific points to be mentioned are care and preservation of the initial landscaping, and fencing restrictions.
